

Strong Wake Forest Eleven Confronts Buff Colonials Face Second Real Test Without Ken Batson; Deacons Favored in Clash

By BILL UMSTEAD, Sports Editor
HERALDED AS a Southern Conference powerhouse, the Wake Forest Demon Deacons make their appearance in Griffith Stadium Friday night with the full intention of handing Bill Reinhart's Colonial eleven its second defeat of the year.

It will be the second real test of the season for the Buff team that bowed to Kentucky for its only loss in five contests this year. Upset conquerors of a strong North Carolina eleven, the Deacs bring a record of four wins and two losses into the battle but both defeats came at the hands of top flight teams.

Crack End

As in last week's game with West Virginia, the placard cheering system will be in operation for University students. The entire east stands have been reserved for Buff students and activity books will be used for admittance to these seats.

Coach Bill Reinhart will be without the services of his star running back, Ken Batson, in the game. Batson suffered a severe shoulder injury in the West Virginia game and will be unable to see any action against the Deacons.

Heading a brilliant Wake Forest backfield will be Galloping Tony Galovich, 185-pound halfback, who ranked among the nation's leaders in ground gaining last year.

Students must have their activity books stamped with cheering section on the back in order to sit in the Buff stands. The books are being stamped by the Rousers Club each day in the Student Club.

Additional results of the straw vote gave Willkie 21 per cent, Thomas 7 per cent, Browder 2 per cent, and a miscellaneous group 2 per cent.

Progressives, F.D.R. Win In Congress Poll

POLITICS will go into the back rooms this week as the University's four political parties begin organization for the opening meeting of the fourth session of the Student Congress, Nov. 6.

In the campus election and straw vote last week students turned in the heaviest vote of the Congress history as they gave the Progressive party 41 seats in the Congress and accorded President Roosevelt a 61 per cent majority vote for a third term.

In preparation for the opening of the Congress, the parties are already calling caucuses to decide on members to represent them, and more particularly to make their nominations for officers of the body.

Major interest at the moment is centered on the possibility that the strong Progressive party may affiliate with the Social-Democrats, giving the two majority control of the Congress and assuring them of whatever offices they want.

Homecoming Sweethearts Nominated

ELEVEN UNIVERSITY beauties will vie for the Homecoming Sweetheart crown between now and November 9th. The names of the following candidates have been submitted to Lester A. Smith, chairman of the Homecoming Celebration, and secretary-treasurer of the Alumni Association:

Helen Toomey, Pi Beta Phi; Betty Stevenson, Chi Omega; Betty Rebecca Jones, Sigma Kappa; Phyllis Cady, Phi Mu; Anne Thomas, Alpha Delta Phi; Kay Wheeler, Delta Zeta; Lois McCann, Kappa Delta; Sonya Braunstein, Phi Sigma Sigma; Betty Campbell, Zeta Tau Alpha; Mary Ellen Degnam, Kappa Kappa Gamma; and Jacqueline Hurley, Newman Club.

These candidates will be entertained with a tea in Strong Hall, Friday, Nov. 8, by the Strong Hall Council. They will be voted on in the Student Club during Homecoming weekend, and the winner will be announced at the Homecoming Ball, Saturday evening, Nov. 9, at the Mayflower Hotel.

Floyd Sparks, Cue and Curtain Director, is in charge of the pageantry to be connected with the coronation ceremony, which promises to be something entirely new, and different. O. D. K. is in charge of the actual coronation.

The cup for the best decorated fraternity house will also be presented at the Ball.

Other plans for Homecoming are being whipped into shape by the committee. Ken Romney, in charge of radio publicity, announces that he has obtained comments from local radio stations assuring that there would be more radio publicity this year than ever before.

Cue and Curtain will present a half-hour program, 7 to 7:30 Saturday evening, Nov. 2, over Station WOL as a forerunner to the Homecoming celebration.

The committee is trying to obtain a permit for a bonfire. If this is obtained, the men's smoker, on Nov. 8, will be preceded by a rally at the bonfire and a parade, led by the University Band to wherever the smoker is held. At this time the committee is negotiating for the Coliseum. If this is not obtained, it will probably be held at a downtown hotel.

Sunday, the 10th, at 2 p.m., the Riding Club will present an Alumni Horse Show at the Meadowbrook Country Club. A special event is planned for alumni and another for students. This will be the second annual Homecoming Horse Show presented by the club.

The third annual Sophomore-Freshman Tug-of-War will be held on the campus Friday, Nov. 8, as part of the program. This event will be under the joint management of the Rousers' Club and the Interfraternity Council. As yet the penalties for the losing team have not been decided.

Art Brown Will Open Buff 'n Blue

ART BROWN, virtuoso of the organ at the Capitol Theater and announcer for Radio Station WOL, will be Master of Ceremonies when Buff 'n Blue swings into its fourth season, Nov. 13, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., according to an announcement by Joan Giles, director of the campus night club.

With the announcement of Buff 'n Blue's opening night comes a campus-wide call for any budding opera stars, incipient comedians, embryo singers and dancers or hopeful entertainers of all sorts to appear at the big tryout of the year tomorrow night in the Student Club. Miss Giles has sent letters to all fraternities and sororities, asking that they help uncover talent for use in the first and succeeding Buff 'n Blue Rooms.

From the tryouts held last week a partial program has been prepared for the first Buff 'n Blue Room, but the director wishes to make it clear that places are still open for the first affair as well as for the four others planned for the year. The tryouts tomorrow night are expected to produce talent for use in Buff 'n Blue Rooms throughout the year.

The "Royal Blues" orchestra, led by pianist Frank Mann, president of the Student Council, will play for the opening affair. This band, which is now observing its fourth year and which has played for many a fraternity and sorority dance, features sweet swing and the sax team of Dale-Condor, Eddie Reed, Lowell Thiebaut and Joe Jones. It is expected that the "Royal Blues" will play for other Buff 'n Blue Rooms during the year.

Final Sittings For Activity Book Photos Thursday

FINAL SITTINGS for Student Activity Book photographs will be taken in the Student Club, Basement of Building C, this Thursday, October 31, from 12:00 to 2:00 in the afternoon and from 8:00 to 8:00 in the evening. No student will receive his Activity Book until the photograph has been taken. No student will be admitted to football games without his Activity Book.

All students who have not as yet called for their Activity Books are advised to do so immediately in the Cashier's Office, Corcoran Hall. In some cases photos did not turn out and will have to be retaken. This Thursday will be the last opportunity for students to have their photographs taken.

Rabbi Metz Will Speak To Avukah

AVUKAH'S second annual "Get-Together" for the Jewish students of the University will be held tonight at 8:45 p.m. in the Student Club. All Jewish students in the University are cordially invited to attend.

Rabbi Solomon H. Metz of the Adas Israel Congregation will speak briefly on "Jewish Problems and What Young Adults Can Do to Meet Them." Rabbi Metz is a graduate of the Jewish Theological Seminary and has been the head of the Adas Israel Congregation for the past ten years. He is also president of the Washington Jewish Community Council, the coordinating body and spokesman for all Jewish groups and organizations in Washington, and past-president of the Washington Zionist District.

Refreshments will be served and dancing will follow.

The next regular meeting of Avukah will be held Nov. 5. A speaker will talk on the "Place of Zionism in Jewish Life." Plans for the coming month, among them a hike, will be announced and made at the meeting.

Officers of the club for the year are: Harry Michelson, president; Jay Hamburger, vice president; Beattie Rosenblum, social chairman; Marjorie Horowitz, secretary; and Ben Cohen, treasurer.

Engineer's Council for Professional Development Notifies Marvin, Feiker

THE GROWING UNIVERSITY took another stride forward yesterday when President Cloyd Heck Marvin and Dean Frederick M. Feiker simultaneously received letters from the Engineers' Council for Professional Development announcing that the School of Engineering of the University had been accredited by that body at a meeting Oct. 24.

Word from the Council, a conference of engineering bodies which acts as a national accrediting board, has been awaited confidently by Dean Feiker since last spring when the inspection of the school was made. The members of the committee appeared pleased with the development of the school, and indicated in more ways than one that the school would be accredited.

As the University now stands, every School therein, for which a national accrediting body exists, is accredited by that body. Expansion of the School. The School of Engineering has expanded tremendously during the ten and a half months under Dean Feiker. A 25% increase in enrollment in the School has been accompanied by increases in physical equipment, laboratory space, and teaching staff.

Physical expansion has been paced by the addition of an entire third story to the engineering building, and the development of the north basement of Corcoran Hall to provide a new testing laboratory, now under construction. By moving the testing equipment out of the other engineering laboratory, space will be provided for the expansion of the Mechanical Engineering equipment.

Gifts of equipment from various manufacturing concerns included a 100-cell Edison storage battery unit, and special heat transfer furnaces.

The enrollment has been called for the appointment of additional instructors. In the Civil Engineering Department, these are Robert R. Lathrop, John G. Wadsworth, and William G. Hayward. In the Electrical Engineering Department, the calling of Prof. Norman B. Ames into service with the Army Air Corps necessitated more appointments. Assistant Prof. A. G. Ennis is acting head of the department, while the following instructors have been added: C. E. Bennett as professorial lecturer, S. W. Rolan, Thomas A. O'Halloran, J. A. Crocker, and W. E. Eisenberger as associates, and William F. Roesser as lecturer.

The demand for special instruction in Marine Design under Dr. A. F. Johnson was so great that R. J. Macy was added to the staff as assistant in Naval Architecture. The See Engineering, Page 4

Building Fund Drive Opens With Banquet

THE WOMEN'S Activities Building drive will open this year's campaign with a dinner tonight from 6:30 to 8:30 at the Iron Gate Inn. The price per plate will be seventy-five cents and all organizations in the campaign will be represented. The drive is not a part of the WSGA but is an independent campaign headed by Miss Ruth H. Atwell, Director of Women's Physical Education, with many campus organizations behind it.

Dr. Katherine Adams, new assistant dean of the Junior College, will tell of her experiences and knowledge of activities buildings on the majority of American campuses. Dr. Adams is interested in seeing such a building on this campus in the not-too-far future.

As a member of the committee on membership and maintenance of standards for the American Association of University Women, Dr. Adams has visited some of the major colleges and universities throughout the New England states, the mid-west, and the west. Everywhere she has found activity buildings definitely filling a need and rendering great services to the institutions which have them. "not only in the obvious ways which the establishment of the buildings indicate, but in so many unforeseen ways. They bring opportunities unexpectedly to both men and women, students and faculty."

Fraternity House Decoration Rules Are Announced

RULES for eligibility in the Homecoming contest for the best decorated fraternity house have been announced and are as follows: (1) Each house must display in its exterior decorations the words "George Washington University Homecoming" or their equivalent. (2) All decorations must be up by 6 p.m., Friday, the 8th, in order to qualify. (3) Each Fraternity entering the event must forward one dollar to the alumni office to pay for electric permits for flood lighting. (4) The decision will rest upon the exterior decorations only, and the cup for the winner will be presented at the Ball on Saturday, the 9th, by the Interfraternity Council.

Rousers Club Schedules Rally For Friday

PRIOR TO THE game with Wake Forest the Rousers Club will hold a student rally on Friday at 4:45. Dean Kayser will speak and the band will furnish the music. Dick Burrows, president of the Rousers, has announced that the coach and several players will make short talks. The card displays will again be used in the cheering section and sit only in every other row, in order to give the lettering better spacing. The Rousers have also announced the third annual Frosh-Soph tug-of-war to be held during Homecoming. A stag beer party will be held for alumni preceded by a parade from the school uptown to the site of the party during Homecoming.

Harding Recommends Speaking Director. VIRGINIA REESE, Jean Brooks Allan, and Elaine Peterson are the competitors for the office of Speakers' Bureau Director. Dr. Harold Harding, associate professor of public speaking, will recommend his choice to the Debate Council on Oct. 31. The result will be announced Nov. 1. Tryouts for Speakers' Bureau representatives will be on Nov. 6 at 2:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. in D-305.

UNIVERSITY MEETINGS IN BRIEF

The Rev. Mr. Wedell Will Direct Chapel. THE REVEREND Theodore Otto Wedell, Canon-Chancellor of the Washington Cathedral, will speak at chapel next Friday at 12:10 p.m. in Columbian House.

Dr. Wedell is well known as an educator, having taught English in three universities. He attended Oberlin College, Yale and Harvard Universities, and was ordained to the ministry of the Protestant Episcopal Church in 1929.

German Club Elects Officers; Plans Play. THE ELECTION of officers which took place at the first meeting of Der Schoenfeld Verein, the University German Club, named Nicholas Koenias, president; Florence Shonshor, vice-president; and Helen Price and Allen Yeagle, secretary and treasurer respectively.

The club plans to meet again in two weeks, but thereafter the meetings are scheduled for once every three weeks. This year, instead of relying on general announcements, the club will appoint a representative in every German class to keep the students posted as to the activities and meeting of Der Schoenfeld Verein.

Plans are under way for the presentation of a German play at the meeting of the Associated German Clubs which will be held at Temple University in Philadelphia next spring.

Spanish Club Holds First Meeting of Year. SPANISH CONVERSATION was required of all El Club Espanol at its first meeting of the semester last week. Entertainment of the evening included singing of the popular Spanish songs: "La Paloma," "El Rancho Grande," and "La Golandrina." Musical contributions were made by Marjorie Wilkins at the piano and Prof. Merle Irving Protzman, associate professor of Romance Languages, with the flute.

Westminster Club Has Hallowe'en Celebration. THE WESTMINSTER CLUB will hold a Hallowe'en Dance tomorrow night from nine to one in the Sorority Hall Annex. Tickets are 25c and may be purchased at the door. The dance is not limited to members of the club.

The Symphony Club Will Present Concert. THE SYMPHONY CLUB will meet tonight in Columbian House, first floor, at 8 p.m. A program of recorded music centering around some numbers by the Russian composers, Stravinsky and Shostakovich, is scheduled. There will also be some recordings of contemporary Spanish classical music. Special equipment has been obtained by the Symphony Club for this concert.

Chess Club Elects Tutwiler President. FRANK TUTWILER was elected president of the Chess Club at a meeting last Wednesday. He succeeded Paul McClellon who held that office since the organization of the club last year.

All those interested in chess are invited to come to the next meeting tomorrow at noon in D-200. The meetings are to be planned with a minimum of business so that most of the time can be devoted to playing chess.

At the last meeting, a Constitution was presented to the club by Eileen Shapagan. After being revised, it was accepted and has been submitted to the Student Life Committee for recognition.

Other officers elected at the meeting were Herbert Benjamin, secretary-treasurer, and Paul McClellon, vice-president.

Luther Club Holds Hallowe'en Party. THE LUTHER CLUB entertained about forty people, including ghosts and spooks, at the Hallowe'en party last Saturday evening in Columbian House. Committees have started work for the Regional Conference of the North Atlantic Lutheran Students Mar. 1 and 2, 1941. The University students will be hosts.

Jr. Panhel Elects Louise Alden. LOUISE ALDEN was chosen social chairman at the last meeting of the Pan Hellenic Council. The committee to plan the rush rules for next year was also selected. Those to serve on this committee are: Sue Preston, Peggy Kinsman, Kay Bowen, and Barbara Hanford.

Pan Hellenic is to cooperate with the residents of Strong Hall in presenting a tea on Nov. 8 from 5 to 8:30 in honor of the Women Alumni. The tea, to be held at Strong Hall, is a feature of Homecoming.

Bridge Club Sponsors A Fall Tournament. THE NEWLY elected officers of the University Bridge Club, President, Ed Gee; treasurer, Heinz Steinbach, and secretary, Helen Junkel, have announced that the club will sponsor a fall bridge tournament to act as a forerunner to the University championships in the spring. The closing date for entries is November 15. The present titleholders are Ed Gee and Heinz Steinbach of Theta Delta Chi.

Wesley Club Holds Meeting Tomorrow. THE WESLEY CLUB will hold a meeting Wednesday evening at 7:30, on the second floor of Columbian House. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Modern Dance Group Will Rehearse Today. ORCHESTRIS, the senior modern dance group, will rehearse tonight at 7 p.m. in the Gym. The Junior Dance Group, the group for beginners, will meet today between 4 and 5 p.m. at Strong Hall.

Homecoming Is Promising

THE UNIVERSITY'S WELCOME to Alumni is becoming just that. It is no longer the welcome of the alumni to the alumni. It is no longer the welcome of the Homecoming Committee to the Alumni, or the welcome of Lester A. Smith. It is the welcome of the University.

That is, if a glance at the program outlined by the Homecoming Committee means anything. This program indicates a Homecoming more complete than any we have had in a long time.

Too frequently Homecoming has been promoted by single chairmen. Capable as they may be, they aren't God—or Franklin D. Roosevelt. Homecoming has badly needed group sponsorship. This year, it seems, we will have it.

On the list of events we find a Mortar Board breakfast for returning sisters, a Women's Athletic Association party for W.A.A. alumni, and a Luther Club entertainment for Lutheran alumni. The welcome has therefore become a campus activity, as it should be. Groups of alumni will be reached in a personal way that the Committee alone can not do.

Cue and Curtain's production of "Margin for Error," which starts off the train of events, is a new feature of Homecoming and should bring back to the University the great number of students who have graduated from the University dramatic group. The Supper Rally for women and the Smoker Rally for men scheduled on the program are promising drawing-boards.

Best surprise of all is the appointment of Floyd Sparks to the chairmanship of the Homecoming Crowning Committee. In an editorial recently The Hatchet stressed pageantry as the necessary item in the Homecoming plans. With Floyd Sparks, the able director of Cue and Curtain, in charge, the Homecoming Crowning should be new and different. The additional plan put forward by the hard-working Ken Romney to put the Homecoming Crowning on the radio will be another noticeable feature of the events.

The Homecoming Committee has done away with voting for Sweetheart by ticket stubs and has substituted in its stead Sorority guarantees to sell a specified number of tickets as prerequisite to putting up a candidate. This is a change to a lesser evil, but one which could not be avoided this year.

However, with Homecoming plans lining up as they are, prospects are bright for a Homecoming that will not be easily forgotten. If Homecoming is a true success, perhaps this unpleasant portion of it may be dispensed with in the future.

The Homecoming Committee's program reads well. If it is just half as good as it reads, Homecoming will be a success.

Co-op Needs Support

ANNUALLY ON CAMPUS, around this time of year, co-op books go on sale. Fraternities and sororities compete to see who can sell the most of these money-saving books, and in so doing win the silver cup offered by the Student Council.

This year the drive is headed by Harriet Wallis, and the book promises to offer the students a bigger bargain than ever. In it students will find tickets for the Buff and Blue room, the Victory Ball, a dance held after the G.W.-Georgetown football game, the Engineer's Ball, the All-University Prom, and the Varsity dance.

The success of the Co-op book, however, depends largely on the students themselves. The Student Council, both this year and in the past, has done all it can to make it possible for students to attend a large number of the dances sponsored by the school, by putting out this book. If tickets for these various dances were bought individually the cost to the student would be exactly twice that of the co-op book.

Co-op books will be on sale for the next few weeks and will afford an opportunity which should not be missed.

Congress Poll

LAYING POLITICAL views aside, the Student Congress Poll was a success. No matter how disappointed or pleased we may be in the outcome, we can say that the number of students participating was a marked improvement over the number voting in the poll of 1936. Some 390 votes were cast in that poll; the total this year came close to 1000. This denotes either that the Student Congress this year was more active in promoting the poll, or that students feel more keenly the importance of this election and are interested enough to take part in such a poll.

That Roosevelt leads in student opinion is definite, as his 61 per cent of the votes shows. The percentages compare closely with those of the Landon-Roosevelt poll of 1936, showing only a slight gain for the Republicans this year. Evidently, the University is a Roosevelt school. In a recent editorial The Hatchet pointed out that the large government worker make-up of the school would play a large part in the outcome of the poll. This it evidently has done. The question of the government worker as a Roosevelt supporter is an important one; and the University poll seems to prove that a great deal of the President's support comes from that source.

The outcome of the November elections will show how closely the student body is attuned to national feeling; and will indicate more strongly what the Congress' poll really indicated as to "government-worker" students.

A Shiny Apple

WE HEREBY donate a shiny apple to Mortar Board for their very successful Apple-Polishing Luncheon last week. Some seventy-five people crowded Sorority Hall to exchange ideas with professors in the social science fields and perhaps get some apple-polishing done on the side.

The affair was successful in every way. If Mortar Board can keep up this record in their apple-polishing luncheons, students will no doubt support them more readily each successive time.

Chopping Block

Irwin B. Nathanson

THE FACT that this book ever saw the light of day is only partly due to the bewildered efforts of the co-editors. When we started in, we had little notion of anything that went into a yearbook except paper, and we doubt if we would know any more now if it were not for the assistance and cooperation of a good many kind souls.

These eloquent words, a neat summation of the case of The Student Body vs. The Cherry Tree, were written by the editors of the 1939 issue of the annual as the concluding paragraph to their efforts! They were found on the last page of the book by this amazed writer, who believes that this particular "Acknowledgment" is a superb abridgment of the entire case, whatever the original sense intended.

Student Opinion Coincides with The Hatchet

Since publication of the first Cherry Tree article in the last issue we have discussed the subject with innumerable student leaders in the University—in Law School, in the Engineering School, in Medical School and in extra-curricular activities, as well as several prominent faculty members. The sentiment uncovered not only coincided overwhelmingly with that of The Hatchet Board, but in many cases even surpassed it in vehemence, if that were possible! A surprising amount of feeling existed to the effect that it would be better to abolish the book, rather than to allow it to continue with its present low standards. This extremity of feeling, however, the writer cannot find himself in sympathy with, especially since he is a graduating senior. There are too many reasons why the senior class and the school should have a yearbook, and a good one.

Enough for the quality, or lack of quality, of the book. If any further doubt exists as to its merit, we refer you to the student sitting next to you.

Constructive Criticism Follows Proof of Evil

The Hatchet has conducted this investigation with an eye toward fulfilling its single purpose—that of serving the student body. In the course of any investigation it is obviously necessary to prove that evils of sufficient magnitude exist to necessitate a change. We believe we have done this and now therefore proceed to constructive criticism.

All of the many faults of the book may be apparently traced back to two main causes: poor staff organization and poor sales promotion. We shall deal with the former in this particular column, and, after further investigation, will discuss the latter in the very near future.

Cherry Tree Must Publish List of Qualifications

First, it is essential that the Cherry Tree immediately formulate and publish a list of qualifications for every position. If such a list already exists, it has never seen the light of day as far as the general campus is concerned. This would be a certain step toward removing the stigma of fraternal partiality and attracting capable people to its staff in the future. Notably lacking have been people experienced in typography planning.

Next, we understand that the Cherry Tree has justly complained of lack of sufficient quarters and equipment. To meet this need temporarily, The Hatchet officially offers to the Cherry Tree the use of the entire Hatchet Office every week night, the only requisite being that there is some evidence of somebody doing some work in these sacred chambers.

We would also suggest that in the future a list of the members of the various activities be referred back to the activities themselves. Too many times has The Hatchet found, in its section, the pictures of people who had never set foot within The Hatchet Office.

We hope we have made it clear that the sentiments expressed and suggestions offered thus far are endorsed, without any qualifications, by the entire Hatchet Board of Editors. This discussion will be, accordingly, continued next week in an official editorial by another member of the Board.

America Must Be Guardian Of Culture, Doyle Says

"WE SHOULD NOT allow our profound disapproval of the political philosophy that now dominates most of Europe, and our contempt for the international gangsters who personify that philosophy, to blind us to what is good in our heritage from Europe," Dean Henry Grattan Doyle told a meeting of the Committee on Trends in Education of the Modern Language Association of America held in New York City recently.

"European culture will survive this temporary advance of barbarism as it has survived others," he continued.

Growing Interest in Spanish

Dean Doyle is enthusiastic over the fact that the American public is at last waking up to the importance of the study of Spanish and Portuguese and of Latin American history, economics, art, and music, of which he has been a consistent advocate for more than a quarter of a century. Enrollments in Spanish at the George Washington University and elsewhere have shown tremendous increases, he said, and there is a growing movement, to which numerous leaders in public affairs and business are giving support, to make the offering of Spanish obligatory in our schools, as English is obligatory in the schools of much of Latin America. "I only hope this interest is genuine," Dean Doyle said, "and that some of it will not fade before the prospect of the serious effort required to master any foreign language. One of the heaviest handicaps that Spanish has had to contend with is the idea that 'Spanish is easy,' he added. "No foreign language can be acquired—by adults, at any rate—without concentrated effort and willingness to work at it, in spite of the claims of 'speak-easy' schools and 'methods,' he declared. "Spanish is more phonetic than some other languages, but it certainly isn't 'easy' for Americans." Dean Doyle also expressed the hope that enthusiasm for Spanish would not lead to corresponding neglect of French, German, Italian, Portuguese, and other languages, "all of which," he said, "have something to contribute to the cultural side of our life and civilization, whatever we may think of the political leaders of the countries concerned."

The chief function of the Commission of which he is chairman, Dean Doyle said, is to study trends with a view to the preservation educationally of our cultural heritage. "While recognizing the importance of mechanical skills in a world in which the doctrine of force seems for the moment to have the upper hand, we must not forget that what we think of as American civilization rests not only on scientific and mechanical progress, in which we can and should lead the world, but also upon our intellectual, spiritual, social and artistic development."

"In our general regret over the lights of civilization that are going out in Europe—to quote a current phrase," he continued, "we should be on guard to prevent their going out here."

The Role of Monasteries

"This is a serious danger," he continued, "both because there is a fraction of our people to whom the arts and liberal studies generally are a constant challenge to a feeling of inferiority because they do not possess them (the 'sour grapes' attitude) and because—and this is the important reason—we are likely, in the general effort to attain mechanical superiority over our potential enemies—a movement which every real American will support 100 per cent—to overlook the importance of keeping the 'lights of civilization' burning here. I have in mind especially religion and the humane and liberal studies, in which languages, literature, philosophy, and history have an important place. With Europe already in the shadows of a 'Dark Age,' we in America alone can and must fulfill the same function as the monasteries of many centuries ago. If we don't civilization is a lost cause, and with it the democracy about which we talk so much. For democracy as we interpret it and domination by the machine to the exclusion of humane and liberal studies are incompatible."

Caduceus Say:

HOMECOMING DAY is quite generally considered a closed date for all University social functions, a point which seems to have been overlooked by the date-fixers of the medical Fresh-Soph dance committee. They have set Nov. 9 as the date of their combined shind-dig, and with all apparent malice aforethought. They present two points of argument: that the extensive study regime of the Medical School infinitely limits their opportunities to hold dances; that, after all, they have no representation in the Council, anyway. Whether these arguments will hold water under the fire of Alumni Secretary, Lester Smith, has yet to be seen.

THAT THE humdrum business of passing exams is quite untenable to medical students of a warring nation was strikingly pointed out in a recent edition of the "Lancet," Britain's counterpart of the "A. M. A. Journal." Despite the fact that students in England's several medical schools have been urged to advise to stick to their studies because they would be more useful as medical officers, an astonishingly large number, nonetheless, share the natural impulse to show that they are as good as the next man, and have joined the fighting forces.

JUDGING by the lapel buttons of a large number of sophomore medics, it would seem that the class has gone Willie by 90%. But there is one member of the remaining 10% who perhaps more nearly epitomizes the hectic features of this great election. He is a Republican, by birth, by heritage, and by tradition.

When he received his absentee ballot a cloud of confusion engulfed him. For two weeks the ballot lay on his desk unmarked. Saturday the decision was made. Down to the Republican Headquarters he went with his ballot, received there free notary service, a luxurious voting booth, convenient mailing facilities, and lots of propaganda. But—he voted for Roosevelt! He felt that the Republicans must pay for not having convinced him that their candidate is best.

Cherry Tree Sends Protest

A LENGTHY reply to a column written last week on the Cherry Tree was received from Fred Youngblood, Business Manager of the yearbook, Sunday afternoon. In a note attached Youngblood requested the reply be printed verbatim. Space limitations prevented its inclusion in this issue.

Topic Deadline Nears For Speech Contest

ALL SENIORS who plan to enter the Isaac Davis Speaking Contest must hand in their names and the topics they will speak on by 5 p.m. Oct. 30. These should be given to Dr. Harold Harding, associate professor of public speaking.

BROTHER NATHANSON and I stole a brilliant idea from Brother Berdick the other day. Here we've been harping on the less-than-medicocre quality of our fellow publication, The Cherry Tree, for so these many months, although Brother Chopping-Block-Man did not break out into a rash of type with his complaints until last week. And although almost everyone we've spoken with, including Tree-book editors, has agreed that reform would do the annual slightly more than just a little good, we've not been very scientific about keeping our finger on the delicate pulse of public opinion.

To remedy this oversight, we've decided to conduct an objective, multiple choice examination. All students are eligible to take the test. Absolutely no prizes will be awarded for high scores. Students who take the three lowest grades will be forced to accept Cherry Trees of former years.

The examination follows. Time limit is 15 minutes. We guarantee that at least one of the choices offered in each question is correct.

The Test

1. As a journalistic accomplishment The Cherry Tree does not even measure up to decent (high school, elementary school, kindergarten) standards.
2. A good way to be chosen business manager is to serve apprenticeship as (feature editor, photographic editor, floor sweeper).
3. A non-fraternity man has as much chance to become editor of the annual as (a snowball in Hell, three snowballs in Hell, three snowballs in Hell).
4. The pictures of YOU will inevitably look like (the bogey man, Boris Karloff, someone you don't know, someone you do know and don't like).
5. The theme of last year's Cherry Tree (had nothing to do with the school, was not connected with the University, had nothing to do with the campus).
6. Even though not a member of an activity a student can be listed under that activity by (saying so on his activity card, being a member of The Cherry Tree junior staff, being a member of The Cherry Tree senior staff).
7. In cash of the realm this publication is worth exactly (the price of the paper, the price of the ink, the price of the paper plus the ink).
8. Last year's Beauty Queen, in view of the pictured label printed in the Tree-book, is entirely justified in (shooting the photographer, shooting the photographer, shooting the whole staff).
9. A student can still get his picture in it, he ignores (the 17th photographic deadline, the 19th photographic deadline, the 21st photographic deadline).
10. The Cherry Tree (is ripe for plucking, is being chopped down by The Hatchet, is being trimmed by The Hatchet).

Students anxious to obtain valuable background material on this subject will find a serious analysis of the problems and suggested solutions in Brother Nathanson's column, "The Chopping Block," found elsewhere on this page. Meanwhile, we hope a repetition of this examination will not be necessary next year.

Engineering Balcony Notes

By MURRAY BERDICK

SIGMA TAU will monopolize tomorrow night with the only meeting of the week. They will convene in D-204 at 7 p.m.

AT LAST WEEK'S Engineers' Council meeting, a spirited discussion was carried on after the suggestion was made that the three societies hold more joint meetings. One of the principal purposes would be that better speakers could be obtained, since the audience of members of all the societies would be sufficient to warrant more important speakers of general engineering interest. Since there was objection to the idea, it was sent back to the three societies for consideration as a suggestion from the Council.

THERE WILL be a talk next Monday that will be of particular interest to engineers, by Mr. Paul Sykes, who will explain "Technocracy," at 8 p.m., Nov. 4, at 1410 Columbia Road. Technocracy is a social philosophy which claims to have the solution of today's problem, where a vast amount of goods are produced but cannot be consumed under the present economic set-up.

LET IT HEREBY be known that this correspondent has a grudge against Frank Mitchell. We no sooner printed that he was up in Syracuse than he arrived back to the home office of Jansky & Bailey. He stayed just long enough to see the West Virginia game (we sat up over first base), then left Sunday night for Portland, Maine. Strangely enough, his train passed right by the one on which George Lohnes, another E. E. grad who is also working for Jansky & Bailey, was returning from Portland. One of the first things Frank intends to do at Portland is look up Gus Millard, who left right after the Theta Tau Regional Conference.

AND, SPEAKING of jobs—for the benefit of those who you engineers whom I haven't already told, this reporter joins the ranks of the students who are getting their education the hard way, come Friday, with a job out at the Bureau of Standards. Wish us luck!

Dr. Young Addresses Virginia Tech Groups

DR. DONNEL B. YOUNG, professor of Zoology and assistant dean of the Junior College, returned Thursday from a trip to Virginia Polytechnic Institute, where he spoke at the Y.M.C.A. on the subject of "Faith in a Scientific Age." He later addressed two classes. His subjects were "Evolution" and "Classification in Zoology."

Buff Crush W. Va. 19-0; Line Play Outstanding

• UNEXCELLED LINE PLAY and a Sammy Baugh attack joined forces last Friday to net the Colonials a 19-0 win over the West Virginia Mountaineers at Griffith Stadium. The Buff diverge this Saturday from the hidden ball attack and a parade of fumbles of last week, to the smart running attack of the Wake Forest Deacons. The Demon Deacons have compiled a neat record for the season despite defeats by Clemson and Duke.

Bill Reinhart's gridders surprised everyone (probably including themselves), when their passing attack showed the signs of a Baugh-generated aerial show. The Grady-Willamson-Gudmundson passes met with success on 5 of 8 tries, resulted in the first touchdown of the game with Pico carrying the ball, set up the second scoring play, and Slick Gudmundson's throws carried the Colonials to the six-inch stripe as the gun ended the game.

Line Gives Best Performance

Despite the absence of two star guards, Hank Augustewicz and Johnny Kokoski, the line displayed the best performance of the year in opening up gaping holes on the offense and smashing the Mountaineer defense to a frazzle.

Johnny Pico's one-man show at end was decidedly one of the best ever staged for the Buff gridders. Johnny grabbed Grady's pass in the end zone for the first score and was a thorn in the side of the Mountaineers all night picking passes out of the air and foiling the opposition's offense.

Ziobro Stars in Line

Stan Ziobro was the little man who wasn't there for the Mountaineer blockers to see, but was definitely there to play havoc with their interference. Stan found himself in the line-up as the result of the absence of Koko Kokoski.

Ken Batson started the fireworks with the game only four minutes old, when he dropped his bulk on a fumble by Ike Martin, West Virginia flash. Ken took the ball shortly afterward on the fourth down with 12 to go, and carried the ball to the eleven to set the stage for Grady's scoring toss to Pico. Unfortunately for the Colonials, Ken's presence in the line-up against the Deacons Saturday is very doubtful because of injury.

Willamson Scores on 85-Yd. Dash

Another attack of futility was devastating to the Mountaineers when the omnipresent Pico popped on one by Glenn Ellis on the enemy twenty-one. Tommy Grady again put his hand in the situation tallying the second six-pointer from the two-yard stripe which was the result of a layup march. Ed Willamson's thirty-five yard sprint was brilliantly culminated as he took the ball over the line standing up for the third score. The Colonials scored in each of the first three periods. Walt Welc kicked the only point after touchdown in the second period.

Coach Bill Kern's proteges are alleged to be heading the way of all southern institutions of education. It is believed that the Mountaineers will forego their relationship with the Colonials in favor of stronger and nationally prominent colleges Friday's performance by the Mountaineers is ironic in the fact that the Buff found the visitor's play very ineffective.

Colonialettes Travel To Hood For Sports Day

• TWO HOCKEY TEAMS, three soccer teams, six tennis players, and six archers will journey to Hood College in Frederick, Maryland, Saturday for a Triangular Sports Day with Hood and Goucher Colleges. The Fall Sports Day, an annual affair sponsored by the Hood girls, is eagerly awaited by all coeds of an athletic turn of mind.

The hockey teams will be composed of the cream of the freshman-junior classes and sophomore-senior classes. Those freshmen and juniors who make up the "Odd" squad are: Helen Marie Byars, Marianna Trowbridge, Virginia Boudren, Peggy Kinsman, Betty McCrahan, Helen McKunkel, Patt Orr, Rosanne Armstrong, Joan Giles, Jane Bergman, Jewell, Mary Jo Oslin, Morton, Florida Franklin, Sally Lewis, Ruth Darby, and Barbara Weers.

The "Even" team, composed of the best sophomores and seniors, includes: Ann Davis, Virginia Smith, Gloria McCloskey, Joan Karns, Anna Bean, Connie Smith, Ruth Brunner, Catherine Moore, Mary Queally, Becky Yobst, Jeanne Spaulding, Virginia Salisbury, Roselyn Pope, Pat Farrell, Helen Tracie, and Margaret McDowell. Oddly enough, the Hood players will be coached by a G.W. graduate and athlete, Barbara Feiler.

Virginia Beecher, Camille Craig, Caroline George, Virginia Stephens, Jeanne Victor, and one other racketeer will represent the Colonials at tennis.

Wilgus Edits Latin-American Volumes

"The Development of Hispanic-America," which is to be published by Farrar and Rinehart, will contain approximately 1,000 pages and 130 maps. It is a text for colleges and will be used at the University next year. A second book, "Atlas of Hispanic-American History," will be published this spring. It will be used in both colleges and high schools.

Dr. Wilgus has recently published a Pan-American Histogram, a chart showing the history of the Western Hemisphere which he used while teaching at Northwestern last summer. In collaboration with Raul D'Es, a former student here, Dr. Wilgus published "An Outline History of Latin America."

The Pan-American Union has just distributed the third revision of Dr. Wilgus' "Syllabus for Teaching Latin-American History in the High Schools."

Intramurals, Greek Sports Well on Way

• ACCORDING to Joseph Krupa, the new Intramural director, 'mural activities this year will reach a greater high than ever before. Over fifteen different sports will be open to the men students of the University.

Ray Hanken, frsh football coach, and Bill Myers, of the Athletic Department, will assist Krupa in the supervision of the touch football and golf tournaments. Registered intramural officials will be on hand for all contests. Vinnie De Angelis, former manager of Intramurals when the activities were supervised by students, has offered his full cooperation.

At present, an undergraduate golf tournament, a tennis match, and a faculty golf contest are being carried on. Preparations have been completed, and entries are being accepted at the Student Club, Gym, or Athletic Office. Individual and team trophies will be awarded to all winners.

Inter-fraternity sports, although a separate division handled by the fraternities, will operate with full cooperation with the Intramural program. Greek sports are well under way, with a golf tournament played, and a tennis tournament in active progress.

Plans for a co-recreational night, to be held in the gym in the near future, are being worked out by Krupa and his aides.

Covering the Colonials

By LUCYK AND LEWIS

• JUMPIN' JEHOSEPHAT and holy mackerel. The Colonials with no less than two Sammy Baughs in their line-up don't discover it until the season is half over. Maybe their passes were ineffective in the first few games when they completed the average of one out of five; but it goes to show you that with good line play, Sammy has nothing on the GW backfielders.

BUFF OF BUFF BITS: Shirley Povich pointed out in his column that Pico's game at end was about the best ever presented to the audience of the district. . . . the popular recreation for Frank McEgan, Buff guard; Davey Johnson, tennis star, and Joe Comer, basketballer, is bridge. . . . There's a wonderful display of the GW football team in the case of the Student Club (But, it's a gyp, they didn't include COVERING THE COLONIALS in the display). . . . We're hoping that Dan Snyder, sophomore tackle, will be able to finish out the season without any trouble from his chronic appendix. . . . BUFF BUDDIES: Charley Jones and Bobby Gilham, court stars; Eddie Amendola and Lou Veltri, also court stars; Bill Slavonic and Hank Augustewicz, soph gridders; the Boys from Butte-Babich, Robins, Nugent, and Papich, all gridders. . . . Ex-Inter-Mural Director, Don Rush announced his expected engagement to Janet Lerch (or vice versa). . . . They're telling us that the cards were in the game Friday were supposed to spell out, "GW Beat WVA." And when you flip them, they spell out "Beat G.U." No kiddin'. . . . The basketballers and the Freshmen athletes monopolized the Redskin tent at the game—in case you are interested. . . . Our prediction for the Wake Forrest-GW match: We ain't tellin'. . . . West Virginia backfielders Clint Barnett and Ike Martin told us that the WVA freshmen team could lick the Varsity right now. . . . Perhaps that is the reason that the Mountaineers go "big time" next year. . . . Speaking of Big Time, Dean Kayser says that if GW can not do things big time, he is in favor of their abolition. At the time the dean was addressing a motley handful of students, who came out to the "pep" rally Friday night.

Homecoming

not been decided. Dick Burrows, president of the Rouser's Club, says he has been promised 100% cooperation from the two classes.

A skit is planned for between the halves at the football game, but the particulars have not yet been disclosed by the committee chairman, Jerry Sicker.

Full cooperation is being given by the visitors. Harry H. Pierson, vice president and treasurer of the Bucknell Alumni Association, has offered full support to Bourke Floyd, chairman in charge of cooperation with Bucknell. All Bucknell alumni living within 200 miles of Washington are to be notified. A special section in the stadium has been reserved for Bucknell alumni and students and they have been invited to the dance that evening.

The exact schedule of Homecoming events will appear on the lighted sign at the corner of G and 21st Streets.

Picks Buff Win

• BILL UMSTEAD, Hatchet reporter, makes a prediction on the Colonial-Wake Forest clash Friday. He says, "It will be a high scoring affair. I pick Dan Snyder to boot a field goal and give the Buff a 24-21 victory."

Hatchet Sports

Frosh Bow To Hoyas As Season Closes

"I don't know where to put the blame," he said, "perhaps it was my own fault. About all I can say is that a combination of poor quarterbacking, inability of the ends to hold on to passes, and an orgy of fumbles hurt us most."

In a game which found most of Georgetown's passes wide of their mark, the baby Hoyas clicked on a forty-two yard pass which spelled ruin for Colonials and counted for the only score of the game.

Frosh Outplay Georgetown

Previously the Hoyas had been badly outplayed, both in the air and through the line. Outgaining the Hoyas the Colonials' two driving backs, MacDougal and Weber, three times put the Buff in threatening position, only to falter in the clutch.

On the opening kickoff, the Colonials marched to three first downs, until they were halted when Lud Lewandowski, rangy end, missed a field goal from the 26. In the second quarter MacDougal, 200 pound stellar fullback, muffed a similar chance from the 22-yard stripe.

Fans Interception Ends Threat

The Buffmen made their final bid in the last period when Leonard intercepted a wild Hoya pass on the G.U. 35. MacDougal drove to the 25, but Quarterback Paul Weber's pass was intercepted in the Hoya end zone for a touchdown.

Despite losing the game, Coach Hanken expressed satisfaction with play of his line, which held like a rock through three quarters. Not until the last quarter did the Hoyas make any headway against the Colonial forward wall when they marched from the Buff 42-yard stripe to the 19, and there lost the ball on downs.

Hanken particularly commended Leonetti, a powerful tackle, for his play in the line and also mentioned Bess, Lewandowski, Delvecchio, Marsh, Mauriell and Donahue as doing a good job for the afternoon.

Unquestionably MacDougal and Weber supplied the drive to the Colonial backfield and MacDougal's long punting kept the Buffmen out of danger most of the afternoon.

Interfrat Tennis Tourney Starts

• THE INTERFRATERNITY tennis tournament is rapidly developing into a dog-fight as the strong teams advance at the expense of the weaker ones. When the smoke cleared after Saturday's battles Tau Sigma Rho had beaten Kappa Alpha 3-2; Sigma Alpha Epsilon had beaten Theta Delta Chi 3-2; and Phi Sigma Kappa had beaten Sigma Phi Epsilon 5-0. The match scheduled for Saturday between Sigma Chi and Delta Tau Delta was postponed until next Saturday. Tau Sigma Rho came back again Sunday and beat Acacia 4-0.

Next week's schedule is as follows: Tau Sigma Rho versus Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Sigma Kappa versus the winner of the Sigma Chi-Delta Tau Delta match.

Hanken Scouts Deacons; Finds Visitors Hot

By DAVID LYONS

• AFTER WATCHING A much improved Colonial eleven beat a strong West Virginia team by a score of 19-0, Ray Hanken left to scout the Wake Forest-Duke game. According to Coach Hanken, this game was hot in more ways than one. Playing at Wake Forest, North Carolina, the heat sent the mercury soaring into the upper brackets, but the first half was, in the way of football, something less than torrid. Plucky Wake Forest bottled Duke up and the only score came when a field goal was booted from the 23.

In the second half, heat and strong Duke reserves combined to overpower the Deacons. The Blue Devils got hot, scored twice in rapid succession and, from then on, never gave the valiant Deacons a chance to get set. Coach Hanken attributes the greater part of their defeat to the fact that Duke had superior reserves which enabled them to better withstand the heat, and also the breaks that Wake Forest got; all of them bad. His tip to G.W. fans is to watch Polanski, a powerful plunger, and Galovich, a trickster, this Friday night when the Deacons clash with the Buff.

Riflers Start Preparations; Issue Call

• THE VARSITY rifle team will get underway with a bang on Friday evening, October 25, as the team holds its first practice in the basement of Corcoran Hall under the veteran coach Frank Parsons.

After winning the Intercollegiate National Rifle Championship in 1938, and winning 8 out of 9 matches last year, this year's team will undoubtedly have a high reputation to uphold in Intercollegiate Rifle circles. Although Coach Parsons has lost five of his first team men by graduation, he feels rather confident with a nucleus of last year men.

His outstanding shooters who will be back this year include Jack McMillan, Cris Cagle, Hy Benenson, and Bonnie Chew. This leaves a good number of positions open on the first team, which is made up of ten men. Coach Parsons cautioned that no positions are sewed up, and a good number of first year men may be able to make the first team, or will be used as first team substitutes.

This year's schedule of matches already includes such schools as Army, Navy, Maryland, Georgetown; while tentative matches are planned with V. M. I. and V. P. I.

Women's Rifle Team Gets Many Members

• ABOUT FIFTY girls have signed up for the Women's Rifle Team, which is a larger turnout than for several years. Many of the newcomers have had previous experience on high school teams in the vicinity. A new gun was christened at a recent meeting of the team by Coach Helen Hanford and Captain Mabel Vierling.

O. D. K. Sponsors Gridiron Club

• LATEST OF Vinnie DeAngelis' brainchilds designed to stimulate alumni interest in the Colonial gridders, is a Monday Morning Quarterback Club, sponsored by Omicron Delta Kappa.

Except for the fact that the club will meet, not in the morning, but in the afternoon at a luncheon, the club's activities will be in accord with its title. Alumni men who have seen the Buff play the previous game will be invited to the lunch on Monday with Coach Reinhart, Athletic Director Farrington, and several active football men. The previous game will be discussed and the usual fault-finding and second-guessing peculiar to MMQ's will be welcomed instead of opposed by Coach Reinhart and his staff.

Great Cast Rehearses "Margin"

AS THE DATES for production near, rehearsing goes on day and night to narrow down the "Margin For Error" in Cue and Curtain's first production of the season. Clare Booth's riotous satire will be presented Wednesday and Thursday evenings, Nov. 6 and 7, at the Wardman Park Theater. Tickets are fifty cents each and may be bought at a special table located in the Student Club.

The bars of ridicule at dictator states, underlying the entire play's action, are mainly entrusted by Author Booth to the character of Moe Finkelstein, the Jewish policeman assigned to guard the German consulate in which the action of the play takes place. In this role Blake Ehrlich sets the pace of the production and delivers some of the most catchy lines of the laugh-studded dialogue.

The Consul, "heavy" of the play, is undertaken by Robert Dearth, who will be remembered by former audiences for his work as the Russian dancing teacher of "You Can't Take It With You." The exacting role of his wife is taken by Sue Preston, a Cue and Curtain veteran. Much of the underlying significance of the action is interpreted through the role of the Oxford-educated German Baron Max von Altonster, secretary to the Consul. James McKechnie is expected to score heavily in this part.

There will be a meeting tomorrow night at Cue and Curtain in Gov. 101 at 7:30. Both present and prospective members should attend.

Romantic lead is Thomas Denny, American newspaper reporter in love with the Consul's wife, played by Wally Buell.

The part of Horst, the American teacher, formerly an elocution teacher in a Milwaukee high school, is being played by Bob Finney, well-known announcer over WOL.

Barbara Minton is cast as the German Frieda. Miss Minton has spent three years at the University of Toledo, Ohio, where she was prominent in dramatic activities.

Captain Mulrooney of the Home-icide Squad will be played by Ernest Payne, who won city-wide acclaim for his portrayal of the stage manager role in "Our Town."

International Group Has Party on 31st

HALLOWEEN will be observed by the International Students' Society Thursday at 8 p.m. in the International House, 2121 G Street. Everything connected with the Halloween tradition, from apple bobbing to costume prizes, will be undertaken by the foreign students of the University.

The committee in charge of the various forms of entertainment includes Florence James, chairman; Helen Skollnik, Lillian Nagl, Severin Feraris, and Otto Schaler.

Admission to the society was given to the following new members: Miguel Corro, Panama; Carlos Dalmau and Fernando Rivera, Puerto Rico; Henri Bernard, Greece; Irene Johnson, Sweden; and Vlasta Vlodek, Czechoslovakia. The American student quota of four received at the time were William Bailey, William Heatwole, Marjorie Wilkins and Otis Wilson.

Cherry Tree

Signing these pages will be invited. A box for ideas and suggestions as to what each student would like to have included in the Cherry Tree will be set up in the Student Club, and it is the hope of the editors that this opportunity to express themselves will be used extensively by all interested students. Acknowledgement of consideration of such ideas will be made upon request.

The Cherry Tree office, third floor of Bldg. B, will be open each Friday from 5 to 6 p.m., and personal contact with a representative of the board of editors is invited at that time for those who would like to discuss any phase of the Cherry Tree's program.

A further program of contests and social functions, aimed at familiarizing the students with the staff's work and providing additional revenue for the publication will develop during the year.

Hallowe'en Highlights Week As Greeks Celebrate

HALLOWEEN is taking the limelight in social celebrations this week. In the meantime pledge elections, formals, radio dances and founders' day banquets are still holding their own.

Phi Sig will hold its Hallowe'en party on Thursday night. It is to be a costume party and the house will be decorated in a Hallowe'en atmosphere. Ray King's orchestra will play.

Some of the other frats have postponed their celebrations until Saturday night. The Sig Eps will hold a Witches' Ball at the house. The Delta Tau Deltas, Kappa Sigs and the Sigma Nus will be whooping it up at their respective houses.

Among the founders' day celebrations is the banquet held by the Delta Zetas on Thursday. This celebration of the 38th year of the founding of Delta Zeta was held at the Kennedy Warren. The well-known writer, Mrs. Ward Brown, who writes for the Saturday Evening Post under the name of Leslie Ford and David Frome spoke. Mrs. Brown is a Delta Zeta from the University of Washington in Seattle. Founders' Day

The Theta Deltis have completed preparations for the annual Founders' Day banquet to be held at the Hotel 2400 on Wednesday. The banquet is to be preceded by a cocktail party in honor of the feature speaker, Dick Wilson, president of the National Press Club. This is the 93rd celebration of the fraternity. Theta Delta Chi is the oldest national fraternity to have a chapter on the G. W. campus.

Also in the round of the houses elections of pledge officers are in the spotlight. Chi Omega elected the following pledge officers: first sponsor, Fay Griffith; second sponsor, Harriet Weber; third sponsor,

Day Students Of Law School Elect Officers

THE DAY SCHOOL division of the sophomore class of the Law School elected its class officers for the coming year at a meeting held last week. Those elected were Dick Barstow, president; Peggy Kletchka, vice-president; Bill Hill, secretary-treasurer; Mike Harrington, public relations council; and Alvin Newmeyer, social director.

This organization cooperated with the Student Bar Association last year in getting speakers for the law school and helped also in setting up a lending library with the Association. It has also been announced that the study groups which proved so successful last year will be continued this year. A banquet, scheduled by the Second Year Law students, was held last Friday at Harvey's Restaurant.

Gee Succeeds Hamm On Student Council

ED GEE, president of the Table Tennis Club, secretary of the Math Club, president of the Bridge Club, member of Theta Delta Chi and Alpha Chi Sigma fraternities, was elected unanimously as a departmental delegate to the Student Council to replace the formerly elected Charles Hamm, who did not return to school. Gee is also a laboratory instructor in chemistry and is attending the University on an Emma K. Carr scholarship.
